Wind farm gets final order from state site committee

By BARBARA TETREAULT
THE BERLIN DAILY SUN

MILLSFIELD — It took a year but Granite Reliable Power has received its certificate of site and facility to construct 33 wind turbines along a 6.5 mile ridge line in the Phillips Brook watershed.

The state Energy Facilities Site Evaluation Committee Wednesday issued the certificate along with a detailed list of conditions GRP must meet.

The committee had voted on June 10 to issue the certificate but allowed its legal counsel 20 days to produce the written order. The deadline was later extended to July 15. The final order is 134 pages long.

"Noble Environmental Power applauds the diligent work of the New Hampshire Site Evaluation Committee in conducting a thorough and transparent process. This permit represents more than two and half years of effort and we are grateful to the community leaders, local contractors, and state agencies who contributed to the process," said Maggie Wisniewski, communications associate for Noble. ## Funding secured for Hodes' Northern Borders Regional Commission

By CRAIG LYONS
THE BERLIN DAILY SUN

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Paul Hodes announced that $3 million in funding for the Northern Borders Regional Commission has been secured for use in 2010.

Wednesday afternoon, Hodes' office issued a press release announcing that

$3 million has been attached to the 2010 Energy and Water Resources Appropriation Act. The bill is on its way through the House of Representatives, and Hodes said, in the press release, he is confident it will pass through the Senate as well.

Injured hiker in fair condition

By BARBARA TETREAULT
THE BERLIN DAILY SUN

SUCCESS — Rescuers from Maine and New Hampshire transported an injured hiker by litter 2.5 miles down the rugged Mahoosuc Trail Wednesday night. The hiker, William Tarkulich, 53, of Rextington, Mass., had slipped and hit his head on a rock earlier that afternoon. He was admitted to Androscoggin Valley Hospital in Berlin where he was listed in fair condition yesterday.

A press release issued by New Hampshire law enforcement said Berlin dispatch received at least one report of the accident at approximately 2:45 p.m. from a friend hiking with Tarkulich. Berlin dispatch notified N.H. Fish and Game which determined Tarkulich was on the Mahoosuc Trail in Riley Township, Maine. N.H. Fish and Game contacted their Maine counterparts but the parties thought the New Hampshire officers would be able to respond faster.

According to an article in the Lewiston Sun Journal newspaper, two Appalachian Trail through-hikers helped get Tarkulich back through Mahoosuc Notch. They headed to where the Notch Road intersects the Appalachian Trail.

About 30 rescuers from Maine and New Hampshire carried Tarkulich by litter down to the North Trailhead on the Success Pond Road. The rescue team reached the trailhead about

Berlin police to conduct sobriety checkpoint

By CRAIG LYONS
THE BERLIN DAILY SUN

BERLIN — The Berlin Police Department plans to conduct a sobriety checkpoint sometime within the next week.

The department decided to conduct a sobriety checkpoint because of the increasing number of driving while intoxicated incidents. The checkpoint is grant funded and has been approved by Superior Court.

The B.P.D. issued a press release Wednesday announcing that the checkpoint would be conducted.

"The purpose of the sobriety checkpoint is to detect and apprehend the impaired driver," said the press release. "Berlin police chief, Peter Morency, and the department have taken an aggressive stance to prevent persons from driving while intoxicated."

The ducks are rounded up following the Androscoggin Valley Chamber of Commerce's duck race held Thursday night. First place went to Jeremy Demers who won $300, second place went to Louise Frchette who won $150, third place went to Nancy and Sharon from the Northland Dairy Bar who won $50 and Sharon Vion won tickets to see the Boston Red Sox with the bonus duck. The chamber sold 635 ducks that were dropped in the river near Gateway Trailer Park and made their way to the bridge next to the Gorham Fire Station during the race. The Androscoggin Valley Chamber of Commerce held its Fourth of July Duck Race Thursday evening after it had been postponed because of poor river conditions during the holiday weekend. The race was held on the Moose River since the conditions on the Androscoggin River weren't suitable for the race. (CRAIG LYONS PHOTO)

Squids invade shores of San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Thousands of jumbo flying squid aggressive 5-foot-long sea monsters with razor-sharp beaks and toothy tentacles — have invaded the shallow waters off San Diego, spooking swimmers and washing up dead on tourist-packed beaches.

The carnivorous calamari, which can grow up to 100 pounds, came up from the depths last week and swarms of them roughed up unsuspecting divers. Some divers report tentacles enveloping their masks and yanking at their cameras and gear.

Stories of too-close encounters with the alien-like cephalopods have chased many veteran divers out of the water and created a whirlwind of excitement among the rest, who are torn between their personal safety and the once-in-a-lifetime chance to swim with the deep-sea giants.

The so-called Humboldt squid are native to the deep waters of Mexico, where they have been known to attack humans and are nicknamed "red devils" for their rust-red coloring and mean streak. Those who dive with them there churn the water with bait and sometimes get in a metal cage or wear chain mail to avoid being lashed by tentacles.

Budget umpire: Health care bills would raise costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats' health care bills won't meet President Barack Obama's goal of slowing the ruinous rise of medical costs, Congress' budget umpire warned on Thursday, giving weight to critics who say the legislation could break the bank.

The sobering assessment from Congressional Budget Office Director Douglas Elmendorf came as House Democrats pushed to pass a partisan bill through committees, while in the Senate a small group of lawmakers continued to seek a deal that could win support from both political parties.

With the pressure mounting on all sides, Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid, D-Nev., dismissed as "a waste of money" a television ad campaign by Obama's political organization aiming to nudge moderates of both parties off the fence. He called it "Democrats running ads against Democrats." A spokesman later said Reid has no problem with the effort.

China's economy accelerates with help of stimulus plans

BEIJING (AP) — China has bought a rebound in economic growth with a flood of government spending and bank loans, averting a surge in politically dangerous unemployment and fueling hopes that it might help lead a world recovery.

The government's announcement Thursday that second-quarter growth accelerated by 7.9 percent from a year earlier boosted global financial markets, though Beijing cautioned that a full-fledged recovery is not firmly established. The economy grew by 6.1 percent in the first quarter, according to the National Bureau of Statistics, and analysts said full-year growth should easily reach the government's 8 percent target.

The increase highlighted the country's dependence on Beijing's $586 billion (4 trillion yuan) stimulus effort. It was launched after demand for Chinese exports collapsed, wiping out tens of millions of factory jobs and raising the specter of unrest.

NASA lost moon footage, but Hollywood restores it

WASHINGTON (AP) — NASA could put a man on the moon but didn't have the sense to keep the original video of the live TV transmission.

In an embarrassing acknowledgment, the space agency said Thursday that it must have erased the Apollo 11 moon footage years ago so that it could reuse the videotape.

But now Hollywood is coming to the rescue.

The studio wizards who restored "Casablanca" are digitally sharpening and cleaning up the ghostly, grainy footage of the moon landing, making it even better than what TV viewers saw on July 20, 1969. They are doing it by working from four copies that NASA scrounged from around the world.

N.H. teen found dead in Wells, Maine motel

WELLS, Maine (AP) — A New Hampshire teenager has been found dead in a Maine motel and a Massachusetts man is facing alcohol-related charges in connection with the death.

Wells police say they found the body of 19-year-old Brian Devanney, of Plaistow, at the Seacoast Motel after receiving a 911 call Wednesday morning.

Police said the death appears to be alcohol-related. An autopsy is being done.

Police said 21-year-old Dino Trent of Haverhill, Mass., who registered the room, was charged with allowing a minor to possess or consume liquor on premises under his control resulting in death. Trent was taken to the York County Jail in lieu of $5,000 cash bond.

Another person sharing the room, 19-year-old David McNeve of Wilmington, Mass., was charged with attempting to shoplift liquor from a supermarket.

N.H. fire officials warn of dangerous rivers

FRANKLIN (AP) — Fire officials in New Hampshire's Lakes Region are asking people to use extreme caution on rivers that are running at all-time highs after a very rain spring.

The fire chiefs in Franklin and Tilton say anyone who goes into the Winnepesaukee River for any reason should wear a life preserver. And even that won't keep people from being tossed against the rocks if they get thrown from an inner tube.

Ken Norton, an experienced kayaker, told the Citizen that he won't even try to paddle the lower part of the river when the water is this fast. A typical speed for mid-July is about 300 feet per second, but last week it was 2,000 feet per second.

N.H. Best Buy worker accused of theft

SALEM (AP) — Police say a Best Buy worker at a New Hampshire store was ringing up false returns and providing friends with fraudulent gift cards to buy items.

Salem Police arrested 18-year-old

Loren Duran of Lawrence, Mass., on Wednesday on a theft charge.

Police say the total value of the thefts is estimated at over $7,000. Some of the items bought include a laptop computer and television sets.

the northern regions of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York. Hodes began work on the commission when he took office in 2007 and said the program would have a significant impact on this region.

"The North Country is struggling in this difficult economy, with thousands of families worried about their jobs, and with many forced to leave their community to find work," said Hodes, in the press release. "This funding will begin a federal-state partnership to bring needed infrastructure and new jobs to the North Country. While this funding is a good start, I will continue to work to bring more federal resources to create new good paying jobs in the North Country."

It will be able to provide federal investment to bring improvement in roads, rail, broadband, job training, energy generation and health care in Grafton, Coos, Sullivan and Carroll counties in New Hampshire. Coos County has the highest unemployment in the state at 8.8 percent, said the press release.

The Northern Border Regional Commission was included in the Farm Bill, which was passed in 2008, and authorized to spend $30 million annually for projects. When the program was authorized no funds were allotted to the program.

Since the program was authorized, Hodes has been searching for a way to fund the program.

"Finding the right funding source is always the challenge," said Hodes, during a previous visit to Berlin.

While the search for the remaining $27 million for the commission continues, Hodes wrote a letter to President Barack Obama asking him to appoint a federal co-chair of the commission.

Hodes is looking to have the commission ready to start when the $3 million is available at the beginning of the next fiscal year.

"In order to the commission to invest in the belt of counties along the northern border from Maine through New York, a federal co-chair must be appointed," said Hodes, in the letter.

In the letter, Hodes said that appointing a chair would be a final step in putting the commission to work.

There's a lot of nice people in this area

To the editor:

This is just a letter to thank the nice young couple in the dark grey SUV on Monday night, who stopped to offer me a ride when my dog and I got caught in that deluge of rain around 6:30 p.m. I told them we were fine and it was the second time we got caught that day! So they drove away, but then stopped on the bridge across from the golf course. When I came along side them, they offered me an umbrella!! I am so touched by their thoughtfulness and kindness to someone they didn't even know. I can't tell you what a lift it gave me. But I am reminded almost everyday of the kindness of people in this area. My neighbors are the best ever, whether it's helping me with snow removal or just noticing my car has not moved for a couple of days. I'm honored and proud to live here, not to mention very lucky!

Chili and Chowder cookoff a great success

To the editor:

On Thursday, July 2, The Second Annual Chili and Chowder Cookoff was held. The cookoff was originally planned to be held at the Gorham Town Common near the ballfield, but due to the heavy rains earlier in the day the location had to be moved to the Gorham Fire Station. The fire station proved to be a perfect venue for this event and contributed to its success! All proceeds for this event will go to assist in the purchase of new cutters for the Jaws of Life for the Gorham Fire Department.

We would like to thank the following businesses for their generous donations of prizes for the contest winners: Berlin City Auto Group, Mr. Pizza, Bond Auto Parts, Town and Country Motor Inn, and Crabby Jacks. We would also like to thank Corrigan Screen

Printing for their help with the plaques for the trophies.

Congratulations to the following winners:

First Place Chili: Rick Eichler

Second Place Chili: Bruce Lary

Third Place Chili: Anthony Adair

First Place Chowder: J's Corner Restaurant

Second Place Chowder: Kelly Demers

Third Place Chowder: Alex Dery Snider

This year's turnout was considerably larger than last year and we are hoping the same will happen next year as we have new and improved plans for the Third Annual Chili and Chowder Cookoff. Look for us during next year's week of Fourth of July Spectacular events.

An Hour With Reptiles

Katy reached behind a table in the big white tent that had been erected on the grounds of the Errol School. When her hands came back into view, they held a small turtle, whose protruding round legs were searching out something substantial on which to stand. All they found was air. But Katy held it firmly in her grip. Whether it knew it or not, the turtle was in no danger of falling. This particular turtle was in no danger at all. In fact, as was later learned, turtles are among the longest lived creatures on earth. This one was just the first of four small-sized reptiles Katy would hold in her hands last Saturday afternoon.

This month and next, the Lake Umbagog National Wildlife Refuge is working in cooperation with other regional agencies to present a series of programs designed to encourage one and all to engage or re-engage with the wonders of Nature. Saturday's program on reptiles, called "Scales and Tales" was the first of six such "Connect with Nature" programs to be held in July and August.

The program in Errol, attended by a small but very interested group of people, was being presented by the Chewonki Traveling Natural History Program. The traveling natural history program is one of several outreach programs offered by the Chewonki Foundation of Wiscasset, Maine, which is dedicated to "fostering an appreciation for the natural world and for working in community with others." Katy, as she introduced herself, was the day's presenter.

Reptiles, we learned, are divided into four groups: crocodilians, snakes, turtles, and lizards. Katy would tell us about and show us live examples of all four.

She began by asking if anyone knew what distinguished reptiles from other kinds of wildlife.

She quickly found that some in the audience had clearly done some homework. "They're cold-blooded," said one. "They have scaly skin," said another. Clearly impressed, Katy elaborated on the answers, explaining each in detail.

Next to find itself squirming in Katy's hands was a corn snake. Largely found in the south eastern and central states of the United States, the corn snake, a constrictor, gets its name from what some see as maize-like markings on its belly. Another explanation is that early farmers would find the non-venomous snakes in their cornfields and corn cribs, and first thought that the snakes were eating their corn. But the snakes were actually helping the farmers by eating rats and mice.

Many of us, of course, are repulsed, even frightened by the sight of snakes. We think of them as slimy and dangerous, when, in reality, only about ten percent of snakes are venomous, and some, such as the garter snake, can be of great help in our gardens.

Next came a Bearded Dragon, a member of the lizard family, and a native of Australia. Like snakes, Bearded Dragons shed their skin, although, unlike snakes, which usually shed their skins whole, the dragon sheds its skin in pieces. Like the corn snake, it does well in captivity, and is popular with those who like to keep exotic creatures as pets. Its diet consists of insects, mice, and certain fruits and vegetables, a diet somewhat similar to that of turtles, although the Bearded Dragon is more carnivorous.

Last to find its way into Katy's hands was an American alligator, still small enough to be held.

Many in Saturday's enthusiastic group knew the significant visual difference between an alligator and a crocodile. The alligator's snout is rounded, shaped like the letter U. The crocodile has a more V-shaped snout, somewhat like a triangle. The alligator's skin is also a darker green in color than the crocodile's.

During the hour-long presentation, we were also shown encased examples of a snake's bone structure and shed skin. Panels of informative

Dr. John McDowell (l) was recently honored by the administration and staff of AVH as well as associates and friends for his 35 years of service to the community. Russ Keene, CEO of AVH, said area owes Dr. McDowell a lot of gratitude.

Dr. John McDowell recognized for 35 years of service to community

BERLIN — Dr. John McDowell, Androscoggin Valley Hospital care management director and hospice medical director was recently recognized for 35 years of service to the local community. In addition to a gathering at the Town & Country Motor Inn in Shelburne attended by John's health care associates and friends, AVH staff greeted him at a celebration within the hospital. He was presented with a collage of photographs and images from his time in Northern New Hampshire, a service recognition plaque and new set of golf clubs.

A 2006 recipient of the Rural Health Clinician Award, Dr. McDowell first became a resident of the area in 1974, moving here with his wife Cathy.

"It has been a pleasure to serve the local community," commented Dr. McDowell. "The people of this area have always been very welcoming and generous."

"The Upper Androscoggin Valley owes John a great deal of gratitude," said Russ Keene, AVH CEO. "His commitment and dedication to practicing health care at the highest level are not lost on those in the area. He has been pivotal in improving the health of residents and visitors to the Berlin-Gorham area. His good-natured, positive approach has benefitted not only patients, but co-workers."

St. Hilaire completes basic training

BERLIN — Navy Seaman Recruit Matthew A. St. Hilaire, son of Janet Lee G. Madore of Berlin, and Leo R. St. Hilaire of Stephens City, Va., recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, St. Hilaire completed a variety of training which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, firefighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

The capstone event of boot camp is

"Battle Stations". This exercise gives recruits the skills and confidence they need to succeed in the fleet. "Battle Stations" is designed to galvanize the basic warrior attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork and endurance in each recruit through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of Honor, Courage and Commitment. Its distinctly "Navy" flavor was designed to take into account what it means to be a Sailor.

St. Hilaire is a 2001 graduate of Woburn High School of Woburn, Mass.

WIND from page one the parent company of Granite Reliable Power.

The order includes as a condition compliance with the High Elevation Mitigation Settlement Agreement GRP reached with N.H. Fish and Game and the Appalachian Mountain Club. Under that agreement, GRP would protect 1,735 acres of high elevation land and transfer ownership to Fish and Game. It would give the state $750,000 to conserve other land outside the project area with a focus on high elevation spruce fir habitat in Coos County owned by the American marten. Another $200,000 would go to Fish and Game to study species of concern.

In addition, the subcommittee is requiring additional pre-construction and post construction breeding bird and raptor surveys as well as a post-construction bird and bat mortality study. GRP is barred from any major land clearing on April 1 and Aug. 1 when birds are nesting.

Also incorporated as conditions are the decommissioning agreement GRP reached with the Coos County Commission and its agreement with the town of Dummer over lighting at the switching yard and continued public access to the snowmobile/ATV on Dummer Pond Road.

Granite Reliable Power must comply with all state permits and certificates including wetlands and alteration of terrain permits and water quality certificates.

Other conditions included in the final order are:

* GRP can not begin construction until all the financing for the construction phase is completely in place. Construction of the 99-megawatt wind farm is estimated at about $275 million.

* All areas above 2,700 feet in elevation must be revegetated according to a plan to be developed by GRP and Fish and Game.

* GRP must prepare and implement a detailed safety and access plan with Coos County before the start of construction.

* GRP must use its best efforts to maintain the integrity of the Coos Trail. The wind farm will require the relocation of a portion of the trail.

* All turbines must not be climbable from the ground to 20 feet above ground level.

* The certificate is not transferable to any other person or entity without the prior written approval of the EFSEC.

* The certificate is issued to GRP based on its current ownership structure with 75 percent of the company owned by Noble Environmental Power and 25 percent by Freshet Wind Energy. The committee must give prior written approval to any asset sale.

While the list of conditions is extensive, the commission rejected approximately 30 conditions requested by Senior Assistant Attorney General Peter Roth, who represented the public in the EFSEC proceedings. Roth had urged that GRP be required to construct a fire station near the intersection of Dummer Pond Road and Routes 110 or 16 and equip it with two forest fire trucks. He also wanted GRP to construct a visitors center in Errol, install three informational kiosks along Routes 16 and 26, do guided interpretive tours of the project, and provide $200,000 to the state Department of Resources and Economic Development to promote eco-tourism in the project area.

Roth recommended GRP be required to hire a general contractor for the construction and have an engineer who specializes in high elevation projects review the project plans. He proposed that before construction gets underway, GRP put together a technical advisory committee made up of local officials, representatives of conservation groups, regulatory agencies and GRP to conduct bird studies and designate up to $300,000 to fund its work.

None of those recommendations made their way into the final order.

Granite Reliable Power still needs approval from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Federal Aviation Administration before it can go ahead with the project.

Recovering from an auto accident, workplace accident, dog bite, trip and fall or other serious injury is always difficult. There are so many factors to consider, beyond your body's own ability to heal—doctors' bills, time lost from work, medical costs for ongoing injuries, pain and suffering. Insurance companies should consider all of these when deciding how much they will ultimately pay. Do not let the insurance company have the advantage; put the experience of Cooper Cargill Chant to work for you. The press release said that a review of records has shown that the use of alcohol by people operating motor vehicles has resulting in an alarming number of deaths and personal injury accidents.

Authorities only give a loose time-frame as to when the checkpoint will be conducted but said it would be placed in a high traffic area.

The New Hampshire Highway Safety

Agency and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration provide the grants funds for departments to conduct the sobriety checkpoints. Many departments throughout New Hampshire conduct these checkpoints throughout the year.

Last year, the Berlin police conducted one that netted three impaired drivers but stopped more than 100 cars during the night.

Along with N.H. Fish and Game and Maine Warden Service, other agencies involved in the rescue effort included Berlin Fire Department, Berlin EMS, Newry, Maine Fire Department, Bethel EMS, Mahoosuc Search and Rescue, and Androscoggin Search and Rescue.

The Broken Chain

We little knew that morning that God was going to call your name.
In life we loved you dearly
In death we do the same.
It broke our hearts to lose you,
you did not go alone;
for part of us went with you,
the day God called you home.
You left us peaceful memories,
your love is still our guide,
and though we cannot see you,
you are always at our side.
Our family chain is broken and nothing seems the same, but as God calls us one by one,
the chain will link again.

With love, Angela, Manon, John, Mark, Laurie, Denis, Maureen, Nicole, Scott, Josh, Lara, Chelsea, Nicholas, Olivia, and Jacob.

We think of you with love today,
 but that is nothing new.
 We thought about you yesterday,
 and days before that too.
 We think of you in silence,
 we often speak your name.
 Now all we have is memories,
 and your pictures in a frame.
 Your memory is our keepsake,
 with which we'll never part.
 God has you in His keeping,
 we have you in his hearts.

HOROSCOPE

By Holiday Mathis

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You are a brilliant interpreter. You get the essence of things, the feeling and intention behind them — not just their literal meaning. You will turn a vague plan into a precise series of actions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You really believe that we can all get along. That's why you will be slow to take offense and you'll encourage others to find a peaceful, tolerant solution to their problems as well.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). That cantankerous person in your life simply doesn't have enough to do. You can't give this person a purpose, but you can offer up a juicy piece of busy work to distract him or her from the exhausting habit of fault finding.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). The people around you are a little distracted, so don't take it personally. Use it as an excuse to spoil yourself while no one is looking. Then you won't mind when others fall short of the quality of attention you usually expect from them.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). What good is a collection if it's tucked away somewhere you can't appreciate? Decide now whether to take it out of storage and display it, or get rid of it. Either way, you'll feel lighter and brighter.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 17). You'll be a inspiration to others this year and all you have to do is follow your heart's dictates. What you enjoy also brings happiness to those around you. A struggle ends in August. Loved ones reunite in October. January brings a business boom. Investments double in March. Wedding bells ring in May. Virgo and Pisces adore you. Your lucky numbers are 30, 5, 28, 41 and 47.

VERGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Share what you know with those who will benefit from the information. Though they might not be in the place just yet where they can comprehend what you are saying, it will all click when the time is right.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Contribute to your team spirit. Lead by example. Make concessions in order to promote good will. You will all arrive at the goal together through compromise and cooperation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Root for the underdog — the one who has more heart than experience, more guts than wisdom. You'll get in touch with your own courage by witnessing someone else overcome it or her struggle.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Your open mind allows you to continue growing and moving with the times. Conclusions are in the making. While talking through a situation with a friend, you will discover what you really think about it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You made some projections early in the year and at this point, you're not too far from where you thought you'd be. This is cause for celebration. After you reward yourself, make new projections.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Place your admiration where it is well deserved. Those who haven't worked for their status in life will have little to teach you. If you're going to model yourself after someone, be sure that person is a self-made individual.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Human connection is something that's taught. Try not to blame a person for being socially inept. If you must find fault, find fault with the behavior, not the person. Those who know better will do better.

Dear Abby
by Abigail Van Buren

WOMAN IS CURIOUS TO KNOW DETAILS OF BEAU'S DIVORCE

DEAR ABBY: I have recently started seeing a wonderful man who is divorced. It doesn't bother me. I know we all make mistakes. My friends are telling me I need to find out why his marriage ended, because it might signal potential problems to watch out for. I understand their logic.

The problem is, I don't want to appear nosy and, of course, I would be hearing only one side of the story. So should I ask him to — or cook him — a nice dinner and afterward say, "So tell me how come a gorgeous, intelligent man like you is divorced. Your ex must have been out of her mind to let you go." Then shut up and listen.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter's landlady — I'll call her Martha — has become very close to our family. Martha and her husband are included in most of our family's social events. My problem is Martha is allergic to garlic and cannot eat anything cooked with it.

Abby, we are Italian. We grew up eating garlic and cook just about everything with it. My husband and I are locking horns over the fact that I feel it is an imposition to be expected to accommodate one person by omitting a key ingredient in a dish. When you're cooking for a lot of people who are accustomed to the way certain foods are prepared, I feel it is inconsiderate for someone to expect me to leave an ingredient out. What do you think? — "MAMA MIA" IN N.Y.

DEAR MAMA "MIA": I think you should prepare a smothered extra dish for Martha — something not too difficult to make, like a salad — or invite Martha over less often.

DEAR ABBY: How does a person find direction? Career counselors have told me that I need "direction," but they never tell me how to go about getting it.

I'm in my late 20s with two degrees and no specific job skills. I have had a few crummy jobs. I'm not afraid of hard work, but I don't know what sort of job I should be seeking.

I spent 10 years trying the touchy-feel "just follow your dreams" approach. Well, my dreams are to be financially independent and have a meaningful personal and intellectual life!

Is there another approach? How do I find a job that fits me? Perfect would be great, but at this point, I'm just shooting for good enough. — UNDIRECTED IN NEW JERSEY

DEAR UNDIRECTED: The career counselors you consulted have given you enough direction that it stimulated your thinking about ways to apply the knowledge you have worked so hard to earn. With their help you should have been able to identify some area of the profession you prepared for that would enable you to be financially independent. Because that didn't happen, I recommend you look further for career counseling because it appears the ones you consulted did a poor job.

very own race car.

Andrew is a 16 year old senior at Berlin High School, and it has been his life-long ambition to finally reach this point.

"My dad and I did a lot of go-karting when I was younger," said Andrew. "We were part of the Cumberland Motor Club and took part in events that took place in parking lots at such venues as the Augusta Civic Center and Storyland. There, the racing organizers would set up road courses using cones and barriers and we raced in timed events."

That took care of Andrew's passion in the early years, however, Andrew didn't realize what he was actually headed for.

"The first time that we saw a Rally event, I knew that was exactly what I wanted to do," said Paine. "We went to all of the Rally events that we could and took in all of the information that we could get."

As a matter of fact, Paine became acquainted with Whitefield's Tim O'Neil of the O'Neil Rally School. Paine sold all of his go-karting equipment and in May of 2008 at the ripe age of 15, Paine invested $4,000 and took part in the four-day O'Neil driving school. Needless to say after the school and the experience, Paine was convinced that he was ready to become more involved as a competitor in the Rally events.

Enter new friend Eric Corcoran. Corcoran is a 20 year old that graduated from Gorham High School and is currently attending college at U-Maine of Farmington. Eric and his father began attending some local Rally races and were present at the winter Rally that was being held in Dalton, last winter. Paine's father, John, thought that he had recognized the Corcorans at the event, and was currently working with the Eric's mom at the time. At work, John took the bold step and approached Eric's mom and asked if he was her son at the Winter Rally. Eric's mom told John that Eric was extremely interested in being involved in Rally racing, whether it be in the passenger seat or as a driver. That was all that Paine needed to hear and he contacted Eric to be a possible navigator for Andrew and the rest is history. The two got together and have been working towards their goal ever since.

The final step in the process of participating in the Rally was of course the purchasing of a car. Rally's contacts through the O'Neil driving school, landed him his first ride. An instructor at the O'Neil Rally school, Al Moody, sold Paine a 1995 Dodge Neon, that was all built and had only been used as a Rally car. The vehicle had just 27,000 miles on it, all be it some very tough 27,000 miles.

With a car in place, the dynamic duo needed to begin to work together. The more established teams rely on an in-car radio system, unfortunately for now, Eric has to shout out instructions for his driver.

"It will have to do for now," said Corcoran, "The radio system will come down the road."

Practice? Where can we go for Practice? Barry Kelley of White Mountain Lumber graciously stepped forward and brought the newly formed racers to an old woods road, and allowed them to begin their working together.

"Our first practice was an experience in itself," said Paine. "Thankfully Eric's grandfather was near by. While practicing we broke the transmission and the car wouldn't move. Eric's grandfather got us back to back to the garage so we could repair the car."

Last Sunday at the O'Neil Rally school, the youngsters were invited to a practice run at the school, to train volunteers for the upcoming Rally this weekend.

"We got to run a pair of courses and it was our best practice to date," said Paine. "Eric actually had notes on the courses we ran and he did some live navigating. It worked out great until we broke the exhaust on the car, and then I couldn't hear him," laughed Paine. Eric interjected, "Yea for me at that point it was sit back and hang on."

The final preparations have been made to their racer and with some local sponsorship from Kelley's Auto Parts and Seventh Street Graphics, the two are ready for their first Rally.

The team will race in a Group 2 class which is a naturally aspirated class. There will be several professional teams racing in the Open Classes and in the Group 5 class where the price range of the race cars ventures between $50,000 to $100,000.

"Our goal is to be able to finish the rally on Friday and be able to run here in Berlin on Saturday," said Paine.

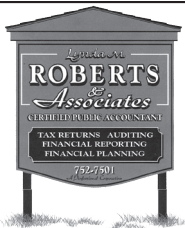

Now that's a goal that can be attained by two very young and focused Rally drivers.

In loving memory of my dad Yvon A. Gervais 1932-2007

Wind blowing on my face
Sidewalk flying beneath my bike
A five-year-old's first taste
Of what freedom's really like
He was running right beside me
His hand holding on the seat
I took a deep breath and bolted
As I headed for the street
You can let go now, Daddy
You can let go
Oh, I think I'm ready
To do this on my own
It still feels a little bit scary
But I want you to know
I'll be okay now, Daddy
You can let go
I was standing at the altar
Between the two loves of my life
To one I've been a daughter
To one I soon would be a wife
When the preacher asked,
'Who gives this woman?'
Daddy's eyes filled up with tears.
He kept holding tightly to my arm
'Till I whispered in his ear...
You can let go now, Daddy
You can let go
Oh, I think I'm ready
To do this on my own
It still feels a little bit scary
But I want you to know
I'll be okay now, Daddy
You can let go
It was killing me to see
The strongest man I ever knew
Wasting away to nothing
In that hospital room
'You know he's only hanging on for you'
That's what the night nurse said
My voice and heart were breaking
As I crawled up in his bed, and said
You can let go now, Daddy
You can let go
Your little girl is ready
To do this on my own
It's gonna be a little bit scary
But I want you to know
I'll be okay now, Daddy
You can let go
With love, Nicole.
